Ford: Administration Putting In Long Hours

By DON WALTON Star Staff Writer

Omaha - Vice President Gerald Ford assured Republican campaign contributors Friday night that the Nixon administration is "working day and night" to resolve the energy crisis.

Ford completed a full day's schedule in Omaha with an address to more than 700 persons at a $100-a-plate Douglas County GOP fund-raising dinner at the Hilton Hotel.

The vice president, a native of Omaha, added a ringing defense of President Nixon to a text directed largely at energy problems.

'We have a great President,' Ford declared. No president has been "more effective in achieving and maintaining temporary manifestation of the energy crisis, is being worked out for the benefit of all truckers, for your benefit, and for the benefit of consumers throughout the country.'

Concerns Known

Ford told the Nebraskans that the administration is well aware of their concern over the need to ship beef and beef products throughout the country.

The vice president outlined what he claimed to be accomplishments of the administration in foreign affairs.

"This administration has moved forward to create a climate of world peace extricating ourselves from the war in Vietnam, improving relations with Moscow and Peking, and nurturing a peace settlement in the Middle East.

"Our stock in the world is high, we are seeking to moderate and conciliate in the strife over oil just as we have in the strife over territory.

But, Ford pointedly suggested, "short-term expediency by individual nations can destroy internationally related economies and drive friendly nations apart."

To Move Ahead Ford said the administration will move ahead with its plans to make the U.S. self-sufficient in energy by the end of the decade. "Research and development

Firm Line Is Drawn

... Ziegler Says Nixon Won't Budge

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) - Demanding anew that Watergate investigations be swiftly ended, the White House drew a firm line Friday against special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski's 'continued and seemingly unending incursions" into President Nixon's files

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler stressed that Nixon won't budge from his refusal to give Jaworski more Watergate tapes, but said the President doesn't want a confrontation with the prosecutor and doesn't intend to fire him.

Nixon's chief Watergate attorney, James D. St. Clair, said in a statement that Jaworski's request for 40 additional tapes plus documents could delay grand jury deliberations "many months."

Although Ziegler said St. Clair had not listened to the 40 tapes, the lawyer said in his statement that "a careful review of this request led me to the conclusion that this new material was at best only corroborative of or cumulative to evidence already before the grand jury and therefore was not essential to its deliberations.

'The President believes he has furnished sufficient evidence to determine whether probable cause exists that a crime has been committed and, if so, by whom," St. Clair said, adding:

"Under these circumstances the President determined that continued and seemingly unending incursions into the confidentiality of presidential communications was unwarranted.

Jaworski, who reported the President's refusal in a letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee on Thursday, has not said whether he now will seek to subpoena the White House tapes and documents. He declined comment Friday on the White House

Indications were that some negotiations between the special prosecutor's office and the White House were continuing

St. Clair said Nixon had told him to continue his private contacts with Jaworski and "to cooperate fully, consistent with the principles of confidentiality of presidential conversations, with a view toward bringing this matter to a prompt and just

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said the Judiciary committee is to meet Tuesday to vote on whether to call Jaworski to testify.

Some members have indicated they want to question him about the White House's refusal to hand over the material. Archibald Cox was fired by Nixon last Oct. 20 in a dispute over his effort to subpoena Watergate tapes Nixon later turned over to Jaworski, Cox's

At an hour-long news briefing here, where the President is relaxing between a pair of speeches to Southern audiences, Ziegler avoided giving firm assurances that Jaworski would not be fired.

But afterwards he told a reporter that there was 'no intention or contemplation whatsoever" of firing the prosecutor and that Nixon stands by a commitment that he would never discharge Jaworski without consulting Democratic and Republican congressional leaders.

In another Watergate development Friday, a federal judge said public discussion of whether former White House counsel John W. Dean III testified truthfully about the Watergate affair should be ended. He also chided Jaworski for appearing on a television talk show

"The President in a letter to me has indicated his concern about pretrial publicity. I hope every effort will be made by appropriate authorities to stop discussing matters before this court," said U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell.

Escaped Convicts Sought In Kidnap

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) - Two escaped black convicts have become prime suspects in the commando-style kidnaping of newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, published reports said Friday.

The San Francisco Examiner, a Hearst newspaper, and the Oakland Tribune reported that authorities are seeking Donald David DeFreeze, 30, and Thero M. Wheeler, 29, in the Feb. 4 abduction of the 19-year-old coed.

However, Charles Bates, FBI agent handling the case, called the reports "pure speculation.

He said photographs of both men bear strong resemblance to composite sketches of the kidnapers, based on witnesses' descriptions

"My impression is that either one could be, but there are probably 100,000 who could be," Bates said. "There is nothing specific at all to link either man with the kidnaping. I don't have any general dispute with the stories, but they are speculation.'

The Symbionese Liberation Army, an armed terrorist group, has claimed it "arrested" Miss Hearst at her apartment near the University of California campus and is holding her in "protective custody.

The SLA demanded that Randolph A. Hearst, editor and prefident of the Examiner, provide $70 in free food for every needy Californian as a first step in negotiating his daughter's release. State officials estimate the project could cost as much as $400 million.

Hearst was asked Friday if he thought the reports on DeFreeze and Wheeler would jeoardize his daughter.

"No, I don't think so. I think we're dealing with people who will keep their word. Now, I have to believe that," Hearst told newsmen at his Hillsborough DeFreeze was named as a possible suspect Thursday night by the San Francisco Chronicle and television station KQED.

The Examiner and the Tribune said DeFreeze, who escaped from Soledad State Prison last March 5, used the name "Cinque" - the name used by one of Miss Hearst's abductors in a tape recorded message from the SLA.

The newspapers said Wheeler, who escaped from the California Medical Facility at Vacaville last Aug. 2, earlier had

Syria, Israel Battle Again

By United Press International Syrian and Israeli forces battled with artillery and tank fire on the Golan Heights Friday, breaking a two-day lull on the tense northern front. Syria said at least four Israeli soldiers were killed in five hours of fighting.

Israel's military command said one Israeli soldier and one Syrian were killed in the fighting which it said began when Syrian troops infiltrated Israeli positions on the northeastern sector of the strategic heights.

The renewed fighting broke out as Israeli newspapers reported Israel had rejected American proposals for negotiations seeking the separation of Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights front.

In Cairo, diplomatic sources said any easing of the Arab oil embargo against the United States would depend on whether Washington succeeds in mediating a Syrian-Israeli military disengagement acceptable to the Syrians.

Friday's new fighting on the Golan Heights followed the return of Syrian President Hafez Assad from a two-day summit conference in Algiers with the heads of state of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Algeria.

LISBETH . . . says she's not homesick. Youth in Action Danish Girl Scout Misses Outdoors

Star Staff Writer 'Danish Girl Scouts are more like American Boy Scouts,' declared Lisbeth Poulsen.

'They go camping and trailblazing and don't have all sorts of service projects like selling cookies," the Danish American Field Service (AFS) exchange student explained.

The Esbjerg, Denmark native, who is spending the year as a senior at Lincoln High School, has eight years of scouting behind her.

Lisbeth noted that scouting is much more common in Denmark since there are no school activities or clubs, except for student council.

At home she and her troopmates of the Green Girl Scouts, an affiliate of the YWCA, spent a lot of time camping at a spcial weekend house only five minutes from the sea.

Likes 'Getting Dirty' 'I like getting out and getting dirty," said the 17-year-old, who says she misses the outdoor life.

She had a taste of the mountains last month when 27 scouts and three leaders spent a long weekend in Colorado. It was her first try on skis, but it proved successful in spite of her skepticism about the three-foot long gliders and the lack of poles.

Brought up in a seaport town, Lisbeth expressed a longing to be near the sea again. To her, Nebraska's lakes are "just waterholes" because "you can see the other side.'

But she is delighted to find an active cultural life in Lincoln. A classical music fan, she enjoys going to symphonies and con-

More protest shutdowns were threatened by service station owners Friday despite efforts by the Federal Energy Office to ease the dealers' anger over short supplies and new regulations.

By The Associated Press

In the area around Norfolk, Va., hundreds of stations actually did close down in what owners said would be a four-day strike. The protest played havoc with area motorists and prompted city officials to ask the governor to declare a state of emergency.

Dealers in Pennsylvania, California, Washington, Oregon, Oklahoma and elsewhere threatened shutdowns if federal officials did not act on their complaints. The demands varied, but prime among them were more gasoline, permission to charge higher prices and an end to the order banning preferential treatment for regular customers.

In Washington, the FEO sought to calm the dealers by telling them the three-day-old rule against favoring regular customers would not conflict with state rules or commercial con-

Charles Binsted, executive director of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, said dealers were "jumping straight up and down" in anger at the FEO regulation, but the new clarification should answer some of their objections and cool off their anger.

Binsted said, however, that many service station owners still have problems with the fuel allocation system and added he was seeking a meeting next week with federal energy chief William E. Simon.

But he said station owners still need and want federally authorized gasoline price increases, which he said were promised last December to restore profits lost because of reduced gasoline supplies.

Dave Wilder, president of the Tidewater chapter of the Virginia Gasoline Retailers Association, said a strike by dissident dealers was about 50 per cent effective and could "become 85 to 90 per cent effective" by Saturday morning.

A spokesman for independent dealers, George Vickers, said dealers who closed their stations did so to protest what they feel is the federal government's failure to allocate a Today's Chuckle

With its new proposal, the administration signaled a desire to continue this struggle with Congress seemingly determined to retain subsidized student aid for those from middle-income as well as needy families. The administration proposal, if enacted into law, would mean a loss of federal interest subsidies for about a half-million students now receiving guaranteed loans. Most of these are from middle-income families.

However, about 400,000 other students from low-income families would not be affected. The administration plan would increase the amount of their outright federal grants to cover the payment of interest subsidies on the loans they also receive.

Prior to 1972, any student, no matter what the level of his family income, could qualify for a guaranteed loan — that is, the federal government and the states would guarantee repayment to the private lender in case of the borrower's default.

Turbine Generator Given Go-Ahead

By LYNN ZERSCHLING Star Staff Writer

Despite the uncertainty of obtaining necessary fuel oil, the Lincoln Electric System (LES) Board Friday gave the go-ahead for construction of a 50megawatt (MW) combustion turbine generation unit south of Lincoln.

LES Administrator Walt Canney said a decision on the engine has to be made in the near future in order for the facility to be operational by the summer of 1975 to meet peak electricity demands.

The board has delayed awarding contracts on the unit since mid-December in hopes the fuel situation would be resolved.

Canney said he hopes to receive clarification this week from Washington on the availability of No. 2 diesel fuel to run the engine. The unit would

A suit was filed Friday in Lancaster District Court seeking an order against the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds enjoining the defendants from selling certain school lands in Custer County.

Marion Cantrell alleges that the lease of his property did not terminate until Dec. 31, 1973, and that the improvements on the property are valued on the basis of an appraisal of more than five years ago.

State has advertised to sell the property at public auction Feb. 19 and the appraisal of the property is "unfair, unreasonable and unconscionable" and "inadequate as representative of the true and just value"

The plaintiff asks the court to enjoin the defendants from holding the sale and to order a new appraisal as of the actual value on the date of the lease expiration and that such appraisal include the value of a septic tank on the premises.

Michigan Man Convicted For Knives In Bag

A 21-year-old Oak Hills, Mich., man has been convicted in U.S. District Court of attempting to board a plane at Lincoln Municipal Airport while carrying a butcher knife and switchblade in his onboard baggage.

Judge Sam Van Pelt delayed sentencing pending a presentence investigation after finding Thomas Flum guilty of the charge. Flum had waived a jury

The charge carries a fine of up to $1,000 and up to one year in prison.

Flum was jailed on July 27, 1973, after a search of his baggage at the airport revealed the knives. He was later released on a $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

The conviction is the first of its type in Lincoln.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

County and city officials continue to move slowly on the matter of spending $400,000 of federal revenue-sharing money for human services. Human services mean just what the name implies - services to help people build for themselves a better way of life.

The City Council was hung up at its last meeting over a recommendation from one of its advisory groups for authorizing a $53,259 consulting study of the matter. It would be the intent of the study to provide a plan of action for spending of the money.

Now, the County Board of Commissioners has decided that it will meet with the advisory group to discuss the study recommendation. There need not be great concern at this moment for the cautious approach of officials involved, so long as such a stature is not maintained for an indefinite period of time.

There is understandable reluctance to spend $53,259 of the money available for another study. Yet, county and city officials can be credited with taking the time to make an intelligent decision in the matter. Certainly, it would be irresponsible to spend the $400,000 without first establishing a good plan of action.

Skepticism on the matter of hiring a consultant to spend the money stems from the belief that there is adequate expertise available in the city to come up with a good plan of action. Our own feelings definitely run in that direction.

County officials have pointed out the many areas in which the county now concerns itself with human services, including the welfare department and the health department. The city, through planning, law-enforcement and the new community development department, also is well informed in the area of human service needs.

Elsewhere in the community are a host of individuals and organizations knowledgeable and active in the same area. One literally cannot name any known area of human service needs that is not currently the subject of effort on the part of some group.

Problems of the aging, of youth, of housing, of health, of transportation, of employment, of discrimination, of environment, of recreation, of education and a host of others are all now receiving the attention of at least one organized group. With the studies that have been made in the past and the experience available in the community, there is more than adequate understanding of the needs.

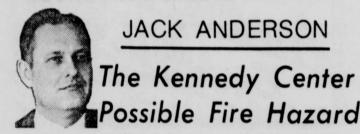

The key to the whole thing is how to effectively meet those needs with the funds on hand. Obviously, this means the establishment of some priorities, the fixing of goals and objectives and development of an administrative setup.

All of this is easier said than done but it does not seem to be beyond the capacity of the community to do for itself. The $53,259 we might spend on a study would also buy a lot of the human services we are talking about.

It seems to us at least to be worth a try. It means the gathering together of representatives of various interest groups and their dedication to formulate a program of action that goes beyond whatever is currently being done in the community. This also has the advantage of local and individualized interest as opposed to the more detached aspects of a hired consultant's report. It could serve as a unifying force in an area where we can ill afford anything else.

Whatever happens, city and county officials have a heavy obligation to see to it that the matter does not become some kind of political football, either inside or outside of government, and that the money does indeed meet the human service needs for which it is intended.

further evidence he has which might pertain to Watergate and suspect campaign contributions, the conclusion cannot be escaped that once again, a special prosecutor is sniffing too close to damaging

Last October, Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox requested tape recordings of White House conversations relating to the Watergate break-in and cover-up, was denied them, went to court to get them and was fired. The President then surrendered the material to the courts, minus two tapes which he claimed never existed. Some of the rest of the material handed over was altered.

Now Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who replaced Cox and was promised cooperation by the White House, has asked for and has been refused 27 additional tapes of presidential conversations relating to Watergate and material relating to dairy industry contributions to the President's reelection campaign - hardly material which could be described as vital to the national security.

withholding, but he says the information "may contain evidence necessary for any future trials." At this point, the White House says that the President is not considering firing Jaworski. And the special prosecutor has not yet decided whether or not he will go to court to get the additional information he had requested and was refused. So an impasse in the Nixon-Cox mold is not yet at hand.

But the President has again demonstrated that no matter what he says publicly, he privately intends to thwart the Watergate investigation every time he thinks he can get away with it. Buoyed by his impressive State of the Union performance last month and the absence of any recent Watergate 'bombshells," the President is again slamming the door in the face of legitimate inquiry. The public should be insulted.

This latest refusal to cooperate should be a bombshell in itself. He again has contributed greatly to the doubt and suspicion which is poisoning the Jaworski is confident that he can obtain major country. The questions still beg for answering.

Getting The Runaround

Speaker of the Legislature Richard Proud says he has been "given the runaround" in his efforts to speak with President Nixon personally on truckers' grievances and other energy-related matters.

Proud had been selected to represent the entire legislative membership after the original plan for all 49 Nebraska lawmakers to go to Washington was discarded. He had expected an appointment with the President sometime this week but he says his phone calls to set up a time have gone un-

Partisan interests, Proud claims, are blocking promised meeting with the President. The speaker feels Republicans don't want him to see Nixon because it might be "degrading" to Nebraska's all-Republican congressional delegation and he feels, in turn, that Democrats are against the meeting because they don't want anything to happen which might put the President in a better

Some or all of that may be true, but we don't think Proud should feel rejected. There is ample precedent for this president's refusal to see people. He has sealed himself off more than most other White House occupants.

This president, it is said, hears only what he wants to hear, and only from a few sources. This lack of communications with the outside world was first brought to the President's attention publicly by former Secretary of the Interior Walter Hickel in a letter which led to Hickel's seat-of-the-pants exit from Nixon's first cabinet. Members of Congress - even the leadership, sometimes have beat their heads bloody against the White House door only to be shunted away by the palace guard. The President rarely talks to his vice presidents, either.

So Proud shouldn't feel too badly. To avoid further embarrassment, maybe he should just

公公公 Farmer, Trucker

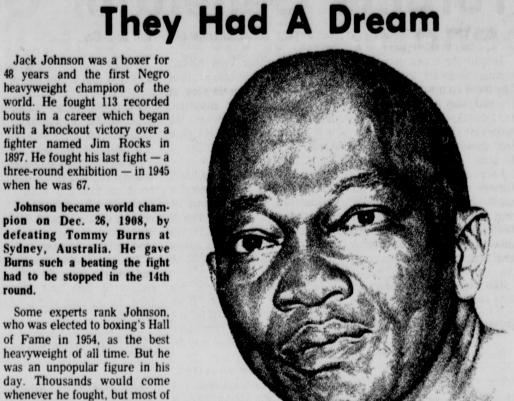

Senator Proud and the Nebraska Legislature may have struck a better blow for the trucking industry and for Nebraska's basic industry agriculture, than appears at first blush. I am one who believes that the crisis is of great magnitude and that President Nixon could well have lent a sympathetic ear to more than one senator, if not to all of them. Despite some ridicule which has already appeared in a leading newspaper in Nebraska about action by Proud and the other Nebraska senators, a tieup of the trucking or transportation industry could and would bring our whole economy to its knees in a very short time. Regardless of whether or not there is a shortage of diesel fuel and gasoline, the fact remains that supplies are short in some areas and the price has advanced to such an extent that truck operators are operating at a loss. The independent owner has no option other than to let his rig stand idle. A price freeze on diesel fuel at the present level does little for him. A tariff increase adds further fuel to infla-an uncontrollable rate. two or three months to planting time, or four months to irrigation time, or to October to harvest time. It is indeed possible the Nebraska farmer could find himself in a similar plight or

Farmers have been asked to produce fence to fence, approximately 15 to 20% more than in 1973. Approximately 33% more than in 1971, so the same amount of gasoline, diesel fuel means of saving Patricia and propane as last year is simply not enough. We can and will conserve every gallon possible, but this will be an insignificant amount. Farmers are not prone to wasting fuel. The picture cannot be over-emphasized to the powers that be, Nixon or whomever, if we are to avert a situation similar to that which we are now experiencing in the Johnson's high living eventually led him into deeper trouble and he fled the country after being convicted of a federal charge in connection with one of his romances. While he was abroad, the search continued at home for a "white hope" to take back the title.

In 1915, big Jess Willard, who stood 6 ft. 5 and weighed 260 pounds, emerged as a strong contender. Johnson and Willard fought in Havana, Cuba, since Johnson, who then was living in Spain, could not return to the United States without being arrested.

Shale Oil

Lincoln, Neb. Oil shale is the cheapest and an almost inexhaustible source of petroleum in the United States, we learned at the Energy Convocation at the University of Nebraska on Tuesday. Wednesday's Star announced that major oil companies are grabbing leases on public land to be opened for oil shale development to the tune of some $320 million for about 10,000 acres. Four more leases in Wyoming and Utah are scheduled to be offered for lease in the next four months.

Now we watch the oil companies' sincerity in pledging their earnings, which have climbed as much as 100%, to the development of new petroleum sources. Such funds should certainly give capability for shale oil production with every environmental protection.

Never has such financial power been given to an industry. We hope the oil industry does not sit on its shale - but gets the oil out — fast!

State Patrol

Sterling, Neb. In answer to "Concerned" from Stella, who was bitching about our State Patrol, all I say is - bunk! I think the State Patrol does a very good job. They lay their lives on the line day in and day out.

The Kansas sheriff who caught Fritz was tipped off by an alert citizen. All the Nebraska Patrol got was leads - two hours or more late - plus hundreds of false reports which all had to be checked out. This takes manpower and man-hours.

I think the men of the patrol do a very good job considering their few members to cover our whole state. "Concerned" is probably the first to bitch when the state wants to add more men because his taxes will go up. People like this give me a pain in the neck. SATISFIED

公公公 Those who have closely analyzed some of the S.L.A. statements and the taperecorded pronouncements of "Field Marshal Cin" have noticed, also that this rhetoric is maundering, repetitive, full of non-sequiturs and bombast, and shows little trace of disciplined political thinking or close knowledge of social and economic conditions. That is to say, it might more nearly be the rhetoric of people playing at

The S.L.A. also demonstrated there has been no support of any its incompetence by its demand that Randolph A. Hearst put up $70 for free food for each of about 4.7 million people welfare recipients and other categories of the poor — as a sign of his good faith in dealing with them. However, much he wants his daughter safe from harm. Hearst was bound to find that demand literally impossible to meet.

Had the kidnapers demanded, say, $1 million expended in some sensible fashion for the benefit of poor people, he would have found it all but impossible NOT to comply, and the S.L.A. might have established some credibility for its revolutionary talk and for whatever its ultimate ransom demand will be.

What Solzhenitsyn stands for is humanity, life, the innate worth of every human

No Correlation

Despite a lack of empirical evidence that the current law is being violated, Cavanaugh said he sees no correlation between the amounts the lobbyists report and the actual level of entertaining he has witnessed.

Lobbyists' reports for the 1973 Legislative session indicate that $46,598 was spent by 291 lobbyists. Cavanaugh said the figure is considerably short of what is really spent, but by how much he did not say.

LB708 would require all registered lobbyists to report all income and expenses quarterly instead of just during the Legislature, break down the categories of expenditures and file position statements on bills. Cavanaugh said under the present law lobbyists are uncertain just what they must report. As a result, he said some reports are misleading.

Challenge Issued Luedtke challenged Cavanaugh to cite one instance of this happening.

'If there's anyone doing that I'd like to see them prosecuted,' Luedtke said.

Carpenter said the Legislature would be like "a lost ball in high weeds" without lobbyists.

"When I die," Carpenter said, "they'll move the statue of Lincoln over and put one of me and the lobbyists will bow before it each day because I'm the best friend they ever had."

Luedtke and Mahoney also attacked a provision preventing legislators from serving as lobbyists for four years after they leave the Unicameral.

There was also little testimony on LB1022, a bill supported by Gov. J. James Exon to impose campaign spending limits on candidates for state offices.

In the primary election, the bill would limit candidates for governor and lieutenant governor to $50,000 each; candidates for auditor, secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general to $30,000; candidates for the public service commission to $12,500; and candidates for the Legislature to $2,500. In the general election all those limits would be doubled.

According to Bill Hoppner. who appeared on behalf of Exon, in the 1970 election the Democrats spent less and the Republicans spent more than those limits.

Committee members questioned whether the limits would not give the incumbent or a candidate with name recognition an unfair advantage over challengers. Hoppner said except for possibly the Legislature the limits were not that low.

No action was taken on LB1022 or LB650, which would outlaw studded tires.

A public hearing on the measure, LB846, sponsored by Sen. Richard Fellman of Omaha, was held Thursday.

The proposal had the backing of Gov. J. James Exon.

During the hearing, it was noted that there is another bill which would increase the food tax credit from $10 to $12. And Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton said he would be willing to support an even higher credit if the need for it were shown.

Killed on a 4-1 vote was LB970, which would have changed the manner in which money received from the sale of upland game bird stamps is spent. The $1 stamp generates about $170,000 to $180,000 annually for the State Game Com-

A bill allowing banks and other financial institutions in Nebraska to observe either or both of the varying state and federal dates for Memorial Day and Veterans Day was passed 44-0 by the Legislature Friday.

The bill, LB729, sponsored by Sens. John Murphy of South Sioux City and Leslie Stull of Alliance, carried the emergency clause and thus becomes law on Gov. J. James Exon's signature.

Prompting the legislation was the fact Nebraska observes the traditional dates for the two holidays, and federal dates differ. Federal reserve check processing requirements can put Nebraska banks "out of step" in der Walter Hoppe, who will not observing the state holidays, Murphy has explained.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

By ROBERT PETERSON Over the years I've received many letters from readers complaining of jury service. I used to chide them gently and remind them of their civic responsibilites. But now the shoe is on the other foot. I was called for jury duty last fall and the four weeks involved were the most flagrant waste of time imaginable. Perhaps age has triggered a sense of impatience. At any rate, it seems incredible to me that modern lawmakers cannot revamp court rules and update processes Some of my fellow jurors were retired folks with time to kill. But most were busy, active middle-agers who were eager to do their duty but who were shocked by the devastating waste of time involved in creaky, antiquated judicial fulfilling jury duty. Along with a hundred or more jury recruits at the county courthouse, I spent hours on end the first week just sitting and waiting in the juror assembly rooms. I was questioned by before being accepted to serve on a jury trying a case in which a woman whose car had been struck by another claimed injuries which her own physician would not confirm.

After the case began the days dragged on with assorted delays. Twice the judge was sick and we were excused. Four times witnesses could not be present and the case was postponed. And the testimony as finally presented was so elementary that a judge should have made the decision instead of tying up 12 men and women for nearly two weeks.

When it came to rendering a verdict, 11 of us jury members were in complete agreement and were ready to give our decision in 10 minutes. But we were held up for hours by a stubborn gentleman who insisted on a fantastically generous settlement for the woman because, as he kept saying, "Let her have what she wants - the insurance company will pay." Because our judicial system insists on a unanimous verdict, the 11 of us had to modify our position or the lawyers for half a dozen cases case had to start all over again.

Sometime ago the papers reported that England is in the final stages of passing a new bill under which criminal jury verdicts will require only 10 to 2 majority, instead of a unanimous verdict. As stated in one news story this will help out, "where justice is frustrated by a silly, prejudiced, stupid, obstinate, or even bribed juror who will not go along with the majority." It is said that throughout America court dockets are jammed with backlogs of thousands of cases. The case on which I served was more than a year old and many of the witnesses were no longer

'Women can box, too. Men can do cartwheels, too. They can be go-go dancers, too," retorted his sister.

Diane (not her real name) was sitting on the floor in her Lincoln home, listening to two of her three children discussing their contemporary male "chauvinist"/feminist points of

"It's a reflection from television, from school, that attitude that men are better . . . But they put it in kid's terms.

"If I had to say whether my children will be gay or straight, I am convinced all three will be straight," the mother said.

That subject does not ordinarily come up in most conversations. Diane is a career woman and a mother.

She's also a lesbian. Later, she and Karen (not her real name), who is also a lesbian, were discussing the problems of lesbian mothers.

Both had had homosexual experiences prior to their marriages.

"I didn't know the true definition" of the word homosexual or lesbian, said Karen. But the eventual reckoning with their sexual preferences and splitting up with their husbands took divergent routes.

"He is not the type of person you tell that you are gay," Karen said, "but he did accuse me of being gay.

She just eventually came to the realization that she "couldn't live with him, being gay."

Diane had a more difficult time coming to grips with her lesbianism. It was a struggle in which she had one recurring thought: "My God, what is happening to me? I thought this was all

She said, "I am a woman in a man's field (career). It desexed me along the way. I became aggressive, laughed at the dirty jokes, wouldn't admit mistakes. I wound up somehow not being a woman." She said she had assumed "all the male stereotypes" everywhere but in her marriage which was "specialized along male-female lines.'

Finally, she said, "It all fell into place. I thought to myself, 'I'm gay.' It was then that she "decided not to fight it, not to be dishonest" with her husband.

"He couldn't handle the gay thing at all," Diane reminisced. Separation was the immediate result.

"We didn't know it, but we had a bad marriage anyway," Diane recalled. "It was held together by subbornness, by custom, by law." But she was more fortunate than other lesbian mothers in divorce and child custody cases. Many are fearful of "being public" about their gayness. Fearful that their ex-husbands will take them to court, will have their sons or daughters taken from them.

"There is THE problem of gay mothers," Diane said, sympathizing with her fellow lesbian mothers.

'My husband is a marvelous man, an excellent father," Diane said. "He feels the kids belong with me, with their mother.'

Karen's situation is quite the opposite. Her ex-husband, voicing suspicions about her homosexuality, has warned her to "keep it cool around the child." He also has grilled the child about "what happens in my house," she said, indicating a fear that the child's father is making attempts at destroying her relationship with their son. 'If I teach him right, it won't destroy our relationship," she said, reassuring herself. "But it's all up to me.

"It's hard to be a mother and be gay . Other people I can handle," she said. The problem is his father "and I can't handle him." Are they open about their homosexuality in their homes, in front of their children? "My child doesn't know." Karen said. "My friends come in. We kiss, hug, say hello, but he never is around a homosexual atmosphere."

"My children are aware," Diane said, "but it's interesting in the way they are aware. My husband and I were extremely affectionate, openly so, even toward our friends. Our children grew up in this atmosphere. They think nothing of it.'

But it was different, just a little, when her lover lived with her last summer.

"My lover had a hard time adjusting to the children" rather than the other way around, Diane said. "It was an adjustment for her, not for the children.

But other questions often come from the

Such dialogues go like this, Diane pointed out: "What are gay women?" "Woman who love other women," the mother replied. "Do they love children, too?" was the accepting voungster's response.

Karen said her youngster occasionally makes comments, such as "It's not right for two women to love each other.

He then demanded to know why she "goes to bed with women and never with a man,' Karen said. "He wants me to remarry and have another child."

"Lesbians, in general, are not men haters," they agreed.

"We don't hate them." Karen said. "We just don't live with them.

"We don't need them," Diane said, adding that that fact alone is "a blow to the male ego. No white knight is going to ride up and take care of us . . . We have to support ourselves."

"Even if there was a white knight, we couldn't live with them," Karen added. Do they have any concerns about their children truly knowing, comprehending their sexual preferences?; "I worry from time to time," Diane said. There are people, who could emotionally harm the children by saying unkind things about her homosexuality, she said. "I worry the children will come home someday with the words 'dike, faggot, queer' and they will be hurt that way. I worry there will be an obscene phone call directed at me and the children will answer.' "I still keep it hidden from my son as much as possible," Karen said. He has no concept of gay or straight life

"I fear my children will be hurt," Diane added. "I want to see them be as innocent and unhurt as possible," she said, echoing the sentiments of all mothers, gay and straight alike. "But they are not aware being gay is all that

"All they've every had was love, affection, people playing with them, spoiling the hell out of them," when her friends, lesbian friends, are in the home, Diane said.

Those gatherings usually are in the form of meetings of Lesbian Sisters, an organization established last September with a three-fold goal: "to provide a feeling of self-respect for gay women, promote social life for gay women, establish a resource center housing information on homosexuality," Diane said.

The first goal is being met simply through the meetings. Lesbians who formerly thought "I am the only one" now are discovering that their situation is not all that uncommon and are able to share their concerns, their feelings in a friendly, sympathetic atmosphere.

The organization provides those women a place to go for "moral support, someone to talk to." And it also is work.ng in conjunction with a local male homosexual organization to establish "not just a gay bar . . . but an everybody bar," where "homosexuals and heterosexuals can come together with real understanding." In Diane's opinion, "Lincoln presents a unique opportunity" for that to happen.

"People of Lincoln are decent people who may not agree with our lifestyle but are willing to let us live it," Diane said.

Now Diane and Karen are keeping a low profile in hopes of further protecting their children from persons who simply do not understand, who do not accept homosexuality.

But Diane plans to work more actively against discrimination towards homosexuals, "in a real civil rights movement.

She knows that doing that will force her to be completely public, force her completely "out of the closet," that her anonymity will no longer be possible.

However, she feels that it's something she

"I plan to do what I have to do to make this world a place where people don't get killed for their sexual preferences," Diane said.

"There is no reason to be ashamed of being to have to say 'I'm proud' to be . . . gay. "I want a choice for my children to be what they want to be, not necessarily sexually.

'How can they do that if I don't get in there and do what I can?

Women Are Taught Not To Succeed

By LINDA OLIG Star Staff Writer

"Boys build houses. Girls keep houses." So reads an elementary school textbook, "I'm Glad I'm a Boy - I'm Glad I'm a Girl," currently being used in several communities across the nation.

"It talks about sexuals that are functional to a society that wants sexuals," said Patricia Kain Knaub, an associate professor currently on leave from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln

She uses that excerpt and illustrations from other primary grade materials to point out that the absence of women in high-level administrative and managerial positions in education and throughout society "starts from the very beginning," from birth, from entrance into the primary grades.

"At that point, we put into motion what is ultimately the result" of fewer women graduating from colleges and universities, fewer women seeking advanced degrees.

Through the use of such curriculum, "a girl would come out of elementary school with a sense of not having a great deal of motivation to succeed because she has been indoctrinated with not succeeding," said Mrs. Knaub, currently working on her doctorate in adult and continuing education, with emphasis on women and women's studies.

Another elementary textbook, 'Alpha One' is more about sexuals than the alphabet," said the educator.

It is a multi-media approach to teaching phonics and is used in 8,000 kindergarten and first grade classrooms across the nation. It also is available on a limited basis, as supplementary material and as interest center resource, in a few Lincoln schools, according to Dwight Grandgenett, school system reading consultant.

"Each letter is assigned a personality and a gender. The 21 consonants are boys, the five vowels are females, each has something wrong Quoting the text, Mrs. Knaub read: "Then Little Miss A appears. The boys explain, 'Oh no, it can't be true. Not with so much work to do. A girl, a girl! Oh go away! A girl's no good for

The book explains that, when put with the consonants, the vowels lose their identity, their

That's the added little stinger," Mrs. Knaub observed. "It's the standard paradigm for our marriage tradition. However, Mrs. Knaub pointed out that the problem of women not striving for their full potential lies not only in the schools, but in the mass media, in religion, in society as a whole. "Schools are easy to attack because they are vulnerable . . . We need to get at the total socialization process.

"One real step in the right direction is to show boys and girls at an early age there are a lot of possibilities," the educator said. "Sexual stereotyping affects boys, as well.

Limits placed on the basis of roles denies them the full use of their potentials . . . if we limit individual potential, we ultimately limit societal potential," Mrs. Kanub said.

"The problem is manifested in higher education where the numbers of women students drop at a significantly higher level," she said.

Citing national statistics, Mrs. Knaub said 85% of all elementary school teachers are female while 79% of all elementary school principals and administrators are male.

This leaves the girls without role models, she

"The percentage of women in various educational positions" is declining at almost every level, she said, while "the numbers of men is increasing "because of overflows in other (career) areas," And this means more men are qualified for elementary school administrative posts.

The 1971-72 University Council for Educational Administration says, "98% of all faculty (in educational administration) were male."Two per cent were female, Mrs. Knaub pointed out, adding the council "estimated 8% of the current student population in education administration is female.'

And a study by the Women's Equity Action League found that approximately 20% of doctorates in education were awarded to women but only 13% of those were in educational administration.

Some women, however, are being appointed to administrative positions in education, Mrs.

Some of it may be tokenism, she admitted. "But it seems to me perhaps that's where we have to begin . . . until women prove themselves in this field, as it were.

"But we sometimes end up with double or even triple tokenism," she said. "It's good to have a women, but it's better to have a black woman, and better yet if she is married to a Chicano . . . Then you get everybody."

Mrs. Knaub will discuss "The Status of Women In Education" at the American Association of University Women's annual fellowships luncheon Saturday at the University Club.

MISS MARSH . . . in Lincoln.

'Downstairs' Miss Marsh Is From Cockney Origins

By GRACIA SIEB Star Staff Writer

"I always tell people that I was born with 'endogenous elation,' because I always wake up in the morning and say, 'I just know that something good is going to happen today," said British actress Jean Marsh who visited in Lincoln Friday mor-work to have coffee and chat butler who only says 'Dinner is with the actors. I enjoy the work," continued the co-creator of the British series "Upstairs, Downstairs," which currently is being televised at 8 p.m. Sundays and 11 p.m. Mondays by the Public Broadcasting System. Miss Marsh also stars in the role of Rose, the head housemaid in the series. The comedy-drama "Upstairs, Downstairs" has intrigued television audiences in England and the United States alike, as it has unfolded, through a series of self-contained installments, the two distinct societies of a single Edwardian household: The first consisting of the "upstairs" or the professional man and his family and the second which is the "downstairs," comprised of the household's servants.

"The people in England really like "Upstairs, Downstairs," Miss Marsh pointed out, because for the first time they can identify with the downstairs

"They can see the servants as more than cartoon characters. such as the maid in the saucy black skirt with a feather duster in hand, receiving a pat on the "I love my work. I don't go to bottom from the master, or the "Before we sold it ("Upstairs, Downstairs''), we read everything we possibly could to learn about the Edwardian era," she continued. "It was a perfect period to choose, because there are people living now who were living then.

"The most difficult part is the downstaris' part, because downstairs people don't keep

However, in spite of that obstacle, Miss Marsh and her counterpart in creating the production - Eileen Atkins had ideal backgrounds to which they could resort for the characterizations of the servant personalities.

"Eileen and I both are from cockney origins," she explained.

We never visit anybody, and and Eileen's dad an underbutler. I have vivid recollections of Mum getting up at six every morning to black every grate in the Master's house.

Even in the "downstairs" area of the household there was a structured class scale, according to Miss Marsh, with the butler and head housemaid at the top of the scale and the scullery maid at the very bottom. 'And you wouldn't presume to step over the boundaries," she emphasized. It was not until after World War I that people began to question these "boundaries" of domestic service, because they knew that other positions were available to them in the many factories, she said.

Currently, Miss Marsh is participating in a tour of the United States, which will continue until March 1.

"I'm glad to be in this part of the country," she said. "Most of the time people like me get plopped in places like New York and we don't get to see the rest of this country. I'm glad that I can be here so that I can see the countryside.

ASTROLOGICAL

The "unpredictable" sign is Aquarius. These are the persons who act on whim or inspiration, depending upon degree of development. But whether young or old, there is action where Aquarius is concerned. One day it is a fad and the next time it could be a genuine religious experience. Aquarius is designated to that section of the horoscope related to hopes and wishes, to friends and to reward gleaned through professional endeavors. Aquarius indeed is gregarious, curious, filled with life force and unconventional enough to be considered eccentric by those who are not blessed with imagination or drive or the stuff which makes people individuals rather than part of a herd. Aquarius is Uranus and that planet symbolizes the unorthodox.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your ability to select quality is put to test. Don't compromise: refuse to be intimidated. One who threatens is heavy-handed and really lacks allies. See people as they exist, not in light of tear, apprehension.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Those who make frivolous claims should be made to put up or shut up — be firm. Older person is in your corner and willing to lend benefit of experience. Young person does plenty of talking and lacks substance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Money, security, costs and investments are emphasized. Be aware of intuitive feelings — strive to deal with practical issues in concrete manner. Those who make claims are least likely to follow through where money is concerned. Protect yourself.

FORECAST

By SIDNEY OMARR & SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22-Dec. 21): One with opposite views may have more than clash of ideas in mind. Protect pocketbook. Envy can lead to complications. Your own motives may be innocent. However, others could be resentful and try to do something unsavory about soothing their feelings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be patient. Otherwise, you will be tripped, blocked, delayed and embarrassed. You gain only by being thorough, observing, exchanging views. You lose by insisting, becoming hysterical. What seems hidden and subtle is actually temporarily obscured. You have nothing to fear that is real.

Forecast For Saturday

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Hold off on long-range decisions. Take one step at a time. Relatives, neighbors may be cantankerous. Maintain aplomb. Seek answers through investigation, not guesswork. Aquarius, Leo and Scorpio persons could be in picture.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Take time where money arrangements are concerned. Don't jump at first offer. Patience is now your financial ally. One who claims to have. .. could be a "have not." Message will be clarified. Change is upcoming and you will be beneficiary.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Responsibility cannot be ignored, especially in connection with home, family. Study Taurus message for valid hint. Time is on your side. If you rush, you lose out on deal which spells profit. One who aided you in past now seeks return of favor. Be receptive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your abili-benefit of experience. Young person does plenty of talking and lacks substance. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Completion is emphasized. You finish rather than begin — this is "crunch" time. Means you no longer should delay, make excuses or permit others to squeeze out of agreements. Get accounting and appraisal. You have right to understand property value — the why, where, how — and other factors.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): New approach to creative process brings surproach to creative process brings sur-prising results. Leo, Aquarius could figure prominently. Stress individuality. One who appears to have facts merely is being argumentative. Be caim. A smile wins more than many angry words. Act accordingly.

Even in childhood we display this strange genius which has brought us from primeval forests to this atomic age. We love to penetrate the untouched spaces . . . to open trails where none

But this quest could destroy us more rapidly than it has profited us. History recounts the fall of many a civilization too busy with its search for new trails to understand its deeper For man can truly progress only when his spiritual growth keeps pace with his cultural and scientific advancement. Or, bluntly, the future of this young Arctic explorer and of his world depends on the Church. The truths of God are unchanging-and ever more essential-as we seek new trails into Admiral Cp 6 42 Aetna Life 2 9 153 Air Prd .20g 22 26 Aircolnc .80 8 14 market headed into the Washington's Birthday weekend on an upbeat Friday, posting its best gain in nearly a month.

The Dow Jones closing average of 30 industrials was up average of 30 industrials was up 10 40 to 820 32 its biggest close Washington's Birthday weekend on an upbeat Friday, posting its best gain in nearly a month.

average of 30 industrials was up 10.40 to 820.32, its biggest close advance since a 16.07-point rise Jan. 17. Gainers outweighed losers by better than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume remained light at 12.62 million shares, but brokers had expected slow trading on the eve of an extended weekend.

Analysts said the advance drew some of its strength from technical factors, with several market indicators other than the Dow at or close to 1973-74 lows. They cited two other favorable influences: continued rapid decline in interest rates, and hope that a weekend meeting of Egyptian and Saudi Arabian foreign ministers with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger might produce news of an easing in Arab oil policies.

Redman Industries, down 13/8 at 31/2, emerged as the Big Board volume leader after a big 527,900-share block changed hands shortly before the close. Some of the glamour stocks which have been under heavy selling pressure recently led Friday's advance.

Steel and auto stocks also generally shared in the advance. U.S. Steel rose % to 39%; Bethlehem Steel climbed % to 31%; General Motors added 1 to 50%, and Chrysler was up % to 17%.

APL Corp. rose ¾ to 8% on top of a 1½ advance Thursday, when the company reported a slight gain in second-quarter earnings and offered to exchange subordinated debentures for 250,000 shares of its common stock.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .66 to 49,33. The American Stock Exchange market value index rose 1.19 to 94.27.

The Amer's volume leader was Giant Yellowknife, down 2½ at 22½, it and other gold stocks lost ground Friday after some recent substantial gains.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market rose .77 to 90.98.

Aronin Slated In Architecture Speaker Series

An architect who warned almost 20 years ago that there would be a fuel shortage by 1975 will talk about architecture and environment Monday and Tuesday as part of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Architecture Speakers Series.

Jeffery Aronin will give a lecture and slide program at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the University's Love Library auditorium on 'Climate and Architecture."

Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in Architectural Hall, he will give a slide presentation and taped interviews with architects such as Frank Lloyd Wright, Walter Gropus, Corbusier and others.

Aronin is the author of 'Climate and Architecture' and soon-to-be-released book, 'Ecology and "Architecture." He also conducts a weekly radio program, "Architecture in the Space Age," out of New York Ci-

Study Sabbatical For Newsmen?

LOS ANGELES (AP) Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Casper W. Weinberger has proposed that the government set up and subsidize a program in which working newsmen could take a year off to study social issues.

Weinberger, raising the idea Thursday at the annual meeting of the California Newspaper Publishers Association, said the news media often failed to provide detailed coverage of complex issues.

He told the publishers that in his opinion, demands on a dayto-day basis often prove too hectic for the journalist to do justice to the subject.

Road Sign Regulations Available

State Engineer Thomas Doyle announced Friday rules and regulations governing outdoor advertising signs along the Interstate and primary highways are now available. Doyle said copies of the rules and regulations are available at the Lincoln State Roads Department offices or at district roads offices at Omaha, Norfolk, McCook, Grand Island, Bridgeport and North Platte. Also available at those locations, the engineer said, are appucation forms for sign per mits. The rules and regulations apply to all signs within 660 feet of the nearest edge of highway right-of-way including segments of highways passing through

The rules and regulations were adopted by the State Roads Department as a result of passage of Nebraska's Advertising Control Act two years ago, which was prompted by the federal Highway Beautification

Under the terms of the law, signs put up after March 27, 1972, must have a permit and must meet certain standards set forth in the rules and regulations.

N-Triple-C Signs Pact To Merge

Officers of the Lincoln-based N-Triple-C and a similar organization on the east coast, MCI, have signed a merger agreement. The agreement is still subject to approval by company stockholders and certain regulatory authorities. The companies offer private communication systems to subscribers who are largely companies with offices in several cities. The merger would join the two companies service areas, extending it to 514 cities in the east, where MCI now operates, and the midwest, N-Triple-C territory.

The area is bounded by New York City, Atlanta, Ga., Chicago, Ill. Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn. and Houston, Tex. Two shares of MCI convertible preferred stock will be given for five shares of N-Triple-C com-

Leaders from a dozen farm organizations grilled officials of the NU College of Agriculture Friday about financial needs for research and teaching activities during a meeting of the Nebraska Agricultural Council.

The council is made up of delegates from most of the general farm groups in the state. Some groups who are not members of the council had representatives at the meeting with college officials.

At the close of the day-long session delegates voted to support the immediate completion of the animal science complex and called for the construction of a plant sciences building at North Platte as a part of the capital construction program of the university.

The council pegged the veterinary science complex bill at $7.3 million and the plant science building at $400,000 in formal resolutions that drew support from all participating farm groups, in an unusual display of agreement.

Another area of concern to the delegates was the lack of in-

Fiscal analysts at the Legislature have apparently rejected every request the college has made for funds for additional teaching staff to meet increased enrollment.

Dr. Ted Hartung, director of resident instruction at the college, said he didn't know why the wholesale cuts in his request had been made.

"We are the only college at the university that has had an increase in enrollment in the past year. Our teachers are overloaded and unless we can get a major part of these funds restored we are faced with three possible moves, none of which we like," he said.

Hartung listed the three alternatives as curtailing enrollment at the college, dropping student advisory services by teachers or curtailing research activities.

'We have a large number of teachers who also do research and we find this heavy workload of students is hurting their research programs. In many cases we need a teaching assistant in a department, some departments need some part

Dr. John Adams, director of extension, predicted his organization would lose some personnel under present proposals.

'The peak problem is the tremendous increase in costs of operating. Salaries make up 85% of our budget but the other 15% is the big problem. We need a sharp increase in money to pay for car mileage which has jumped from 9¢ a mile to 12¢. Costs of meals and lodging for our people when they have to remain outstate have risen dramatically. Without a budget increase in these areas we will have to leave some positions unfilled," he warned.

Omaha Firm Offers To Sell Plants

Omaha (AP) - The Commodore Corp. has closed seven mobile home plants and one recreational vehicle plant and will offer them for sale in an attempt to halt operating losses, President Daniel Katzman said

Commodore, based in Omaha, reported a net loss of $3.2 million for the six months ended Dec. 31, compared to net income of $848,500 for the same period a year ago. Net sales totaled $39.9 million, down from $52.1 million the previous year.

"A sharp downturn in mobile home sales coupled with the deterioration of the market for recreational vehicles were the major factors causing our operating losses," Katzman said in a message to stockholders.

The sale of the plants will leave Commodore with eight mobile home plants, five in the United States and three in Canada, and a recreational vehicle plant in Canada Plants to be sold include mobile home factories in Falls City, Neb.; Arlington, Tenn.; Bellefonte, Pa.; Corsicana, Tex.; Galt and Placentia, Calif., and Thomasville, Ga. Those plants' profitability has been marginal, at best, over the past several years," Katzman said.

Damages Are Sought From K-N

Hastings (AP) - A Leawood, Kan., man has filed suit in Adams County District Court here seeking $622,575 in damages from the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., Inc.,

Carroll Syverson claimed that his discharge in April of 1970 was a breach of contract in that it was unfounded and without cause.

Syverson worked 27 years for the Alflafa Division of Archer-Daniels Midland Corp., a Minneapolis-based company.

Kansas-Nebraska bought the firm in December of 1967, changing its name to Western Alfalfa Inc. The suit contends that Syverson was named vice president and general manager of Western, and as an advisory member to the Kansas-Nebraska board of directors The suit claims that Syverson was terminated before the expiration of his contract, and that Syverson did not resign from his position with the company.

New Contract Raises Wages For Omahans

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)-A new three-year contract between four large can manufacturers and the United Steelworkers Union affects about 25 employes at Continental Can Co.'s Omaha plant, a spokesman said Friday.

He said the Omaha employes are in the office work force.

The new contract will bring an immediate general wage increase of 28 cents an hour for employes of Continental, American Can Co., Crown Cork & Seal, Inc., and the National Can Corp

There will be an added 16 cents an hour the second year of the contract and 17 cents an hour the third year. The present hourly wage is about $5. The pact also includes increased pension benefits

The recreational vehicle plant being sold, Banner Homes Corp., of Elkhart, Ind., was profitable in the past, but "the realities of the marketplace indicate that the energy crisis will severely inhibit motor home sales for years to come.' Katzman said that the "con-

Nebraska Bar Representatives Nixed Protection For Reporters

Omaha (AP) - Nebraska's three representatives to the American Bar Association's House of Delegates said Thursday they were among those recently voting against a proposal to offer limited protection to news reporters for their confidential news sources.

Nebraska Supreme Court Justice Harry A. Spencer, Lincoln attorney James A. Hewitt and Omaha attorney Harold Rock said they sided with the majority when the House of Delegates meeting in Houston voted 157 122 to defeat a suggestion to back a reporter's privilege bill being considered by Congress.

Justice Spencer, representing the appellate judges section, said he voted against the proposal on instruction of the group. He said appellate judges feel the bill "is much to broad."

Spencer said his personal view was that a reporter should not have the right to keep news sources confidential "except under certain conditions."

"I do not feel reporters should be used by prosecuting attorneys as investigators," he said. "In that area I would protect them."

lowa Beef Arranges For Credit

Dakota City (UPI) - Iowa Beef Processors, Dakota City, said Thursday it has completed arrangements for a new $60 million line of credit.

The new arrangements include both an expansion of the credit line and a move to an unsecured basis, the company said in a news release.

The financing is with a consortium of 17 banks led by First National City Bank of New York and will replace a $45 million secured revolving credit line maintained for the last two years, the release said.

W. K. Holman, group vice president of finance, said the new credit is made up of two major parts.

The first is a $30 million unsecured seven-year term loan, Holman said. Proceeds from the term loan will be used to replenish working capital for the firm's Amarillo, Tex., beef complex expansion. He emphasized that the term loan could be prepaid any time without penalty, permitting IBP to seek long-term financing.

Holman said the second portion of the credit was a $30 million unsecured open line at the prime rate. He said proceeds from any usage of the open line would be used for seasonal working capital purposes.

Girl Pleads Not Guilty In Falls City

Falls City (AP) A Missouri girl pleaded innocent Friday to three charges stemming from a chase and shootout with law enforcement officers that left her companion dead.

The car allegedly was stolen in Kansas.

The court ordered a psychological examination of the girl, with trial scheduled for March 27. Her bond was continued and reduced from $5,000 to

But the 41 who are having the greatest difficulty include children who, in speaking proficiency, "fall into a category where they only hit 3 on a 5-point scale," said Miss Platt. Those children, as they get to high school, may be as many as six or seven years behind, she said. "Their options would be very limited," she noted.

And it's those kids, she said, who would provide the "superjustification for gettting funds' under a federal program.

Miss Platt herself has had considerable experience in the kind of programs she's investigating. She's worked in New York poverty programs, in the Peace Corps in Africa, in the Watts section of Los Angeles and last year was in Spain helping native teachers learn to speak and teach Engligh.

Miss Platt is working with Elizabeth Grone, the school district's foreign language consultant, in the grant proposal preparation.

"We want to do more at recognizing people's cultural backgrounds," said Miss Grone. "As a community, we're much speak another language.

Dichter Is Doubtless By RICHARD GRACE

The University of Nebraska Cultural Affairs Committee had another plum to add to their concert series Friday evening in Kimball Hall — this time in the person of concert pianist, Misha

After the evening's concert, there could be lettle doubt that Dichter ranks among the world's leading pianists. Playing on an unfamiliar Baldwin piano (Dichter endorses the Steinway), the young pianist of Polish birth presented a varied program of two Beethoven Sonatas, Debussy's Suite Bergamasque and the Symphonic Etudes, op. 13 of Schumann.

It is difficult to say which composition was most appreciated by the ebullient audience. Perhaps it is suffice to say there was something for everyone.

Dichter opened the first half of the program with Beethoven's Sonata in C minor, op. 13 ("Pathetique") and Sonata in E flat major, op. 31 no. 3. Although the E flat major sonata does not even closely approach the "Pathetique" in popularity, the contrasting styles of the two were delightful in comparison. Added to the genius of Beethoven was the personal imprint of Dichter who left no uncertainty through his performance of his own fondness for the composer.

Dichter employed all possible dynamic levels along with seemingly brighter and slower tempi to aid in contrast to the different movements and to give a freshness to the music matter how often one had heard the work performed. Despite this personal touch, one was not prone to believe the performer transgressed against the composer's wishes.

The veiled softness of Debussy's work presented a fine contrast to the two powerful German composers before and after. Here again the audience was treated to a good performance of an extremely wellknown piece, Claire de lune. This tune has been played so poorly by so many amateur pianists that many professionals seem to shy away from its performance.

However, Dichter did not over-sentimentalize and the end result was an exquisite few minutes in which one could finally remove some of the bad feelings for this piece that have built up over the years.

It is easy to understand why the Schumann work was selected to conclude the program. It is a natural for the likes of Dichter's pianistic abilities which abound with technique, power and sensitivity. Schumann's tightly-knit group of variations is highly flambovant in nature and difficult to realize but the pianist did not disappoint anyone and Saturday might find some collectors going to the record stores to investigate what Dichter albums are available.

Van Berg Sale Not Surprising To Irwin, Many Track Officials

By MARK GORDON

Star Sports Writer
When Jack Ven Berg was born in St. Mary's Hospital in Columbus, Bob Irwin was working for his father, Marion H. Van

"I was with the Van Bergs 371/2 years," he said. "I guess you could say I've seen Jack throughout his career. But, I'll tell you this there was nobody like M.H. — he was a fine horseman."

Irwin, who left the Van Berg operation following the death of M.H. in May of 1971, was contacted in Hot Springs, Ark., where he's training on his own at Oaklawn Park.

The trainer was commenting on Van Berg's sale of his racing stable of 116 horses to Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Bridge of the Shinrone Farms, Inc. of Detroit, Mich. The sale did not include the Van Berg property in Columbus and other sites.

"It was expected," Irwin said. "They wanted to settle the estate of Marion. But, I'll have to say it's sad to sort of see the Van Berg operation end. It's too bad the kids couldn't have stayed together."

The Van Berg clan consists of seven girls, one boy and Jack. When M. H. the patriarch of the family, died after starting from scratch in 1937 to develop the biggest operation in horse racing, the estate was divided nine ways.

And that was a point of some infighting But, nevertheless, Irwin has nothing but respect for Jack

"He's a hard-worker . . . as hard as anyone I've known in horse racing," Irwin said.

While Irwin was undoubtedly closer than anyone to the Van Berg estate during Marion's lifetime, none of the other Nebraska horsemen contacted expressed much surprise at the

"The whole thing really transpired a couple of months ago," said Ak-Sar-Ben general manager Dick Becker. "He'll still be training his same horses. He may train a few for Nelson B. Hunt (of Dallas) or William Trotter (of New Orleans).

'But he told me, he'll definitely be back here at Ak-Sar-Ben this spring," Becker added. "He'll have his full house of 40 horses. I really don't think this (the sale) will diminish his stature. He'll still be very prominent in horse racing.

Warren Albert, who for more than a quarter-century has been general manager of the Columbus races, is quite familiar with the entire Van Berg family.

"Jack's success has been in the number of horses he's had," Albert said. "He was raised with them, grew up with them and picked up most of what he knew from his father. He . . . the Van Bergs . .. still owns lots of property in Columbus and Platte County.

Albert speculated that Van Berg may eventually own some horses, despite his intentions that he wants to become strictly a

Harry Farnham, chairman of the Nebraska State Racing Commission, noted that Van Berg had sold the horses to settle the estate of Marion H.

"They wanted to settle the estate and Jack had been planning this for some time," Farnham said. "But, he'll still be training for the guy (Bridge). He still picked up a lot of money from the sale."

The sale price was not disclosed and those persons contacted said they had no idea of the transaction price.

State steward Jack Fickler said he has met Bridge and described him as a relative newcomer to the racing game Bridge, whom Fickler termed a trucking executive from Cleveland, has purchased several stakes-producing mares.

"I guess he (Bridge) figured Jack's the best, so why not get the best to train your horses," Fickler said.

But, perhaps the most telling-fact about the sale is that the purple and gold silks which have carried Van Berg to 15 straight trainer titles at Ak-Sar-Ben, may be finished blazing around the

"They were kind of sacred to Mr. Van but they may be a thing of the past now," said Fickler.

'They'll probably be using the green and white silks of the Bridges," Irwin said. "Unless Jack still owns some, but I think you could say there certainly won't be very many gold and purple silks anymore."

Thus ends one of the most dynamic and nationally-known and respected sports empires that state of Nebraska has ever produced. Van Berg may still win the trainers' title at Ak-Sar-Ben, but it won't be the same thing.

The Van Berg dynasty, for all practical purposes, is over.

Columbia, Mo. - If Nebraska is ever going to snap its seasonlong woes on the road, this Saturday afternoon would be an ideal opportunity.

Consider the following indications as Nebraska and Missouri prepare to meet here at Hearnes Multipurpose Building on a non-televised game at 2 p.m.:

- The Huskers are coming off a disappointing yet encouraging 65-64 loss Tuesday night at Colorado. That loss. nevertheless, was as coach Joe Cipriano said "our best road game this season.

- The Tigers, winners of a third straight Big Eight preseason tournament at Kansas City last December, have lost their last six conference games after defeating Iowa State back

- Last week, Nebraska received aggressive play from all its starters in breezing past coach Norm Stewart's Tigers, 75-58, at the NU Coliseum.

But don't think Cipriano has already achieved his first road Big Eight win this season.

"Misouri's going to be tough," he predicted. "They've been very good offensively at home and we've gained confidence from our road game at Colorado.

"It's going to be important for us to get good defense early in the game," he said. "Eberhard (senior Al) is going to be hard for us to cover and making sure we hold him down early is going to be important."

Eberhard, as he has been throughout his Tiger career, is the inspirational leader with his aggressiveness. The big blond is the conference's second-leading scorer, hitting at a 20.4 pointsper-game clip.

Senior Gary Link is averaging at a respectable 17.0 margin giving the Tigers an effective scoring duo. But defense has been the Mizzou downfall in conference games.

Missouri has allowed an average of 80.9 in its seven league games - the worst total in the league. By comparison, Nebraska has permitted 73.1.

The 75 points NU scored last Saturday against Missouri was its second-highest total in a 3-5 conference season. The only total higher was, of course, the 91 points in a 91-88 tripleovertime win at the NU Coliseum.

A Nebraska win coupled with a Colorado loss at Boulder against league-leading Kansas State would propel Nebraska into fourth-place.

JV Game

Coach Al Nissen's Nebraska junior varsity basketball team faces the Missouri junior varsity in an 11:45 a.m. preliminary game. NU is 5-2.

Other Games

Other Big Eight league games Saturday send Iowa State (3-6) to Kansas (7-1) in the afternoon television attraction, Kansas State (8-1) to Colorado (4-5) and Oklahoma State (1-7) at Oklahoma (6-2)

Star Staff Writer Lincoln High's pressing defense refused to buckle Friday night at Johnson Gym as the Links posted a 63-50 victory over visiting Papillion.

Attempts at a fast-break were foiled by the Links, zones, presses, man-to-man defenses fell apart and turnovers mounted as Papillion tried to muster an attack.

All totaled, Papillion had 28 turnovers compared to Lincoln High's 17. The Links, however, managed to capitalize on their "gifts" while the Monarchs repeatedly failed.

"We couldn't nangie anything," a disgusted Papio coach Dick Muma fumed after the debacle. "We're the most inconsistent team I've ever seen. We just couldn't do anything

The Monarchs finally found the range with 4:45 left in the first quarter when Dan Kelly pumped one in from the corner to make it 6-2, but it wasn't until Jim Haskell collected a threepoint play with one second left in the stanza that Papillion posted any more scores.

'We didn't capitalize on several occasions when we should have," Lincoln High coach Aldy Johnson said. "But we did have a pretty good game. I thought our first half was a lit-

Third-rated Lincoln East line during the first three bounced back from its upset loss quarters of the game for East. to crosstown rival Southeast as the Spartans smothered No. 5 ranked Fremont, 69-48, at the East gym Friday night.

Coach Paul Forch's winners, nipped by Southeast, 60-57, the previous night, broke out from a 6-6 tie after the first three minutes against the visiting Tigers and never looked back.

When 6-8 center Curt Hedberg tallied his third bucket of the first quarter, East was out in front bya 12-6 count.

The issue should have been settled in the second stanza when coach Al Bahe's Fremont club managed but a single field goal on 13 tries - a seven percent effort - but East was unable to pull away from the ninepoint, 19-10, first quarter lead to Fremont staved close on six free throws - on 11 chances while East settled on four field goals to maintain the nine-point margin, 27-18, at halftime.

Hoyt Nye banged in a pair of fielders to open the second half and Hedberg, who paced all scorers with 21 points, added two more as the Spartans started to widen the margin.

While Fremont was limited to a single fielder in the first four minutes of the third period, East zoomed to a 35-20 bulge.

The final frame was slowed by a constant parade to the free throw line. Fremont went to the charity stripe eight times for 13 chances, while East stepped to the line 13 times for 23 tries.

The 23 free throw chances for the Spartans in the last eight minutes of play contrasted to just nine opportunities from the Pius X, the state's seventhranked Class B team, stumbled through a cool first quarter against a fired up Titan squad. Norris held a 12-10 lead at the end of the first eight minutes.

John Magsamen began opening up the Pius X attack in the first moments of the second quarter, but again the hustling isitors came back to lead 20-18.

With 3:56 left in the first half, Pius X rode the hot hands of Magsamen and Pat Anderson to 13 straight points, leading 31-20, and putting the Thunderbolts ahead to stay.

Norris, 11-9 on the season, managed to pull within five points late in the third quarter, but another Pius X streak by Magsamen and Jim Hamersky put out the rally.

The 'Bolts, now 12-4, led by as many as 16 through the final period.

Although coach Don Kelley's Thunderbolts had relatively little trouble through the final three quarters, the 'Bolt shooting eye, a strong point much of the season, was off. Pius X hit only four of 15 first quarter field goal tires, missing numerous layups.

The second quarter found the 'Bolts on target with 10 of 16 shots to help end at 28 of 65 for 43 per cent. Norris hit on 23 of 74 for 31 per cent. Magsamen and Hamersky topped the winners with 21 points each. Anderson added 12 but sat much of the second half with foul trouble.

Forrest DeVries, Norris' offensive standout ended with a game-high 22 points, but managed only five the first half due to a fine defensive showing by Magsamen. Dan Schaepe and Bruce Topp accounted for 14 and 10, respectively, for the Titans.

The Friday victory was Pius X's eighth in its last nine games. The 'Bolts will host third-ranked and twice-beaten Cozad next Friday night in the Pius X gym.

Doane Hosts Hastings Colts Sign NU's Dutton In NIAC Cage Test

By STEVE GILLISPIE

Star Sports Writer Crete - Just about every superlative in the English language has been used to describe the current basketball series between Hastings and Doane.

So when the two teams meet here Saturday night at Fuhrer Fieldhouse at 7:30 before an expected capacity crowd, there isn't expected to be any lack of interest since there is a lot at

And history reveals that the team with the home-court advantage in those playoffs usually wins and goes to the NAIA national tournament.

Additionally, the District 11 playoffs this year will probably be between Hastings and Doane.

Both teams are very talented, but the Broncos have an edge in depth. Farrell uses nine players about equally, while Doane doesn't have that kind of luxury.

With so much at stake and the results of past games between the two schools being close, the game should be one, if not the best, Nebraska state college game of the season.

By KEN HAMBLETON Star Sports Writer

Favored Hastings and Lincoln Southeast are awaiting the Trans-Nebraska Conference Swimming Meet Saturday scheduled at the Lincoln East

But, Lincoln East's Greg Rutford is eyeing the meet with even greater intensity.

Rutford is entered in the 200yard and 400-yard freestyle and will swim one leg of the 400-vard freestyle relay.

He is the prohibitive favorite in the two individual events and could help East capture the prize-worthy relay.

Greg's best times in the 200 and 400 freestyle events are 1:51.1 and 4:09.7 respectively, put him in position to break both of those conference records.

Rutford has been swimming competively for the past five years, but interest in swimming has only increased over the years for him.

"Swimming has become somewhat of a lifestyle for me, with workouts throughout the season and during the summers," he said. "I would still like to break some more marks and win a state championship."

However, Rutford will not be the only swimmer with a shot at breaking Trans-Nebraska marks. LeBaron), 3:28.2, 1972.

"Every record could go this year," East swimming coach

Dennis Voloknek said. "Southeast, Hastings, East and Lincoln High are all very strong teams and I would expect that these are the same teams that will also finish high in the state meet." Diving preliminaries begin at 9, a.m. with swimming preliminaries beginning at 10 a.m. Finals in the swimming start at 2:30 p.m. and the diving finals will follow immediately.

The New york Eimes

Washington - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is saying privately to his closest political associates that it is extremely unlikely that he will run for president in 1976. Kennedy has said repeatedly over the last six months that he felt reluctant to make the race. But now, with the pressures mounting upon him to run, he is expressing his views in stronger terms.

Nevertheless, some visitors to his Capitol Hill office are going away with the impression that he is already in the race. According to Kennedy staff members, they come to see the senator because they desperately want him to run and, when he says only that he intends to keep his options open until late 1975, they convince themselves that he is encouraging them.

Willens, who raised money in 1968 for former Sen. Eugene R. McCarthy and in 1972 for Sen. George McGovern. Kennedy felt that he had been even-handed with a man whom he did not know well.

But Willens returned to California and told his fundraising colleagues that he hoped and believed that Kennedy was already in the race. The senator and his staff were astonished and somewhat irritated by that interpretation.

Kennedy has said within the last week that the illness of his 12-year-old son, Teddy, who has had a leg amputated because of cancer, is the strongest factor militating against any candidacy.

But his associates suggest that is only the most recent explanation that Kennedy has supplied to buttress his reluctance to seek the presidency. Among the Thus, after a two-hour others they cite are a fear of lunch last week with Harold assassination, his family's opposition to a presidential race until late 1975, and he has and the possible adverse political consequences of Kennedy's accident on Chappaquiddick Island in 1969.

To those of his intimates who have asked, Kennedy has said that his present disposition, strongly held, is not to run. It would not matter to him, he has said, whether Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington appeared the likely Democratic nominee; nor would it matter what his own chances seemed to be.

'You don't run only when the golden moment appears," he has been quoted as saying.

The Massachusetts Democrat, 42, has made it clear to his close associates that only some dramatic change in the condition of his son would persuade him to change his mind.

But in his conversations with other politicians he has been less candid. He has told them only that he would make no decision listened sympathetically but noncommitally to their pleas that he challenge Jackson.

British Miners Escalate Strike

London (UPI) - Striking mineworkers extended their picketing to rail bridges and grade crossings Friday and threatened to blockade the River Thames to keep coal and oil from reaching power plants.

Their leaders threatened to mobilize up to 10 million other workers in a new escalation of their 5-day-old walkout.

In what could be an ominous new escalation, Mick McGahey, vice president of the Mineworkers Union and a Communist Party member, said miners and other trade unions in Scotland have agreed on tougher strike support.

After the frisking, the cop ran a check on Richard's license plate, since he'd lost his driver's license and car registration.

"When he found out I was telling the truth," said Richard M. Nixon, "he started laughing like crazy and then he became real nice about the whole thing.

GM Recalling Nearly 1.2 Million Vehicles

DETROIT (AP) - General Motors Corp. is recalling nearly 1.2 million passenger cars and light duty trucks equipped with a single diaphragm brake booster. They are seeking some 1,200 vehicles which officials said may have defective vacuum power brake housings.

About 85 per cent of the vehicles involved are in owners' hands, GM officials said.

The recalledunits include: -1973 and 1974 intermediate and full size Chevrolets. -1973 intermediate Buicks,

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
